

Working with Transition Plus

Educating learners to reach their full potential in developing daily life skills.

What is Transition Plus?

The mission of Transition Plus is to provide services to students with educational disabilities and special needs in post-secondary education and training, employment, and independent living to promote a successful transition from high school to adult life.

Transition Plus helps students in:

- Jobs and job training
- Recreation and leisure
- Community participation
- Independent living
- Post-secondary/Post-school planning

To participate, students must:

- Be 18-21 years old
- Have completed their senior year of high school
- Have an Individual Education Plan (IEP)
- Have goals within the five areas of transition listed above

As a volunteer, know these students are:

- Learning in a hands-on environment
- Undergoing extensive learning and training within the community they live
- Participating in Community-Based Instruction every Friday. Students visit various institutions in the community that meet the needs of adults with disabilities.
